October 2006

Main Group Page template

This template contains three xtra text boxes. The main text content box has been turned off. This means the text for your group page will need to be input into each text box from within the Layout window (instead of in the Content window). You should keep the text to a minimum in order to maintain the layout, aligning it accordingly with each photo.

Sidebar

The last three templates include a right sidebar for adding favorite or related links, or any other text you would like to input into this space. From within the Layout window, simply enter your own text and links into the sidebar (xtra text box). If you are going to include the sidebar on multiple, or all, of your pages, you can just change the text on one page's template, and then copy this xtra box to your other templates to save retyping the same information in over and over again.

Text Columns template

There are two columns of text plus the right sidebar. The first column is the main text content containing the text you entered while in the Content window. The second column is an xtra text box, and the third column is the same sidebar mentioned above. You will need to enter your own text into the xtra text box and sidebar from within the Layout window. Also be sure to adjust the height of the 'Middle Text Column' box to match the same height as the main text content box – this will keep the right border lines at the same height.
